

SPOTLIGHT

Scavolini's Baltimora

Country chic style for a timeless kitchen

Scavolini's Baltimora, one of the brand's greatest successes in terms of classic proposals, designed by Vuesse in collaboration with Marco Pareschi is an important kitchen for prestigious, refined ambiances. Renewed with new essences, colours and finishes including the oak doors, stained in various colours, two of which have a pore finish and antique gold and silver effects, and the matte lacquered models, all of which are also available with a stylish antique gold or silver effect. Baltimora has also been renewed in terms of the range of elements with new 15 cm extractable columns.

The perfect icon of traditional taste inspired by the ambiance of American countryside, Baltimora is the ideal solution for all those who consider furnishing and living as peaceful gestures of the soul, and that customs handed down from tradition remain the essence of good aesthetic sense.

Built with valuable materials and solid wood doors (in the oak versions), Baltimora is designed and finished with care, to last through fashions and time.

Customisation is made possible by a wide range of complements and accessories from the line, such as the elegant frames and classic decor, the worked sides, the midway units, chimney hoods, bases with removable wicker baskets, units with open elements, plate racks, doors with wooden grates and glass doors with English-style frames. The cupboards with glass doors and English-style frames are both highly practical and extremely elegant. When combined and enhanced by wooden edging and strips, they can furnish entire walls. Baltimora is finished off with a range of tables and chairs which echo the style of the kitchen and the wood finishes of the doors;

Baltimora is also a green kitchen: in tune with the company's awareness of environmental issues, Scavolini has chosen to adopt Idroleb ecological panels on all its kitchen structures.

